

SENATORS OF THE UNITED STATES

1789-2011

A chronological list of senators from the First Congress to the 111th Congress

Administrations come and go, Houses assemble and disperse, Senators change, but the Senate is always there in the Capitol, and always organized, with an existence unbroken since 1789. Henry Cabot Lodge, 1903.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge stands among the most astute of the Senate's twentieth-century observer-participants. In the quotation noted above, he captures the fundamental continuity of this singular legislative body. On September 30, 1788, Pennsylvania became the first state to elect its United States senators. Since that distant election of William Maclay and Robert Morris, the states of this nation have similarly honored nearly 1,900 Americans. As Senator Lodge suggests, the most recently elected member shares a direct kinship with the entire line back to Senators Maclay and Morris. This book is intended to remind current senators of that lineage by listing all members in the order in which they arrived. Each senator has been assigned a number to reflect his or her rank at the time of initial election. Up-to-date biographical information for all of these senators is available at <http://bioguide.congress.gov>.

SENATORS' ORDER OF SERVICE

From 1789 to 1958, senators whose terms began on the same day are listed alphabetically. Beginning in 1959, senators are listed according to commencement of first Senate term by order of service, determined by former service in order as senator, vice president, House member, cabinet secretary, governor, and then by state population. This latter system for calculating order of service has been used by the modern Senate for many years for the purposes of office assignment. It is unclear just when the Senate first began applying such criteria.

SENATOR'S PARTY AFFILIATION

A complete list of political parties identified in this list is included at the end. The Republican (R) party affiliation may refer to the Democratic Republican party (sometimes referred to as Jeffersonian Republican party) of the early 1800s, or to the modern (GOP) Republican party that was founded in the 1850s.

<sup>5</sup> Smith was elected to a full Senate term on Nov. 2, 1926. Charges of "fraud and corruption" in his campaign were made throughout the spring and summer of 1926, but he won election handily. When his predecessor (William B. McKinley) died in early December 1926, Smith was appointed to fill the vacancy in the term ending March 3, 1927; he presented credentials as a Senator-designate but was not permitted to qualify. He then presented credentials as a Senator-elect to the United States Senate for the term beginning March 4, 1927, but again was not permitted to qualify and subsequently tendered his resignation on February 9, 1928, after the Senate voted that Smith was not entitled to his seat.

<sup>6</sup> Vare presented his credentials as a senator-elect at the convening on Congress on Dec. 5, 1927, but his opponents moved to block his seating, and his case was referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections; meanwhile, Vare was not permitted to qualify. On Dec. 6, 1929, the Senate voted to deny Senator-elect Vare a seat in the Senate.

<sup>8</sup> Phil Gramm resigned early, effective Nov. 30, 2002, so that Cornyn could move into his office suite and begin organizing his staff. Cornyn did not, however, gain seniority, owing to a 1980 Rules Committee policy established under Senator Pell that no longer gave seniority to senators who entered Congress early for the purpose of gaining advantageous office space.
